The cultivation of the Encruzado grape is almost exclusively from the Dão region, so makes it very unique and coveted.

This wine is made with the traditional Burgundy “Bâtonnage” process (3 months in barrel) of stirring the lees back up into the wine.

The wine reveals a very elegant and delicate aroma with fine minerality, citric fruits and discreet wood. In the mouth the freshness stands out with beautiful fruity acidity and perfect balance. Light hints of smoke, ending with mineral and lemon-like notes. Very pale yellow colour. Floral and toasted aromas with grapefruit complements. Tropical taste in the mouth that wasn't revealed in the nose, with surprising freshness.

A unique longevity for a white wine, it's a great white wine that is unique and welcomed to the table.

Reserva Branco Encruzado
(Dão)

This is a beautiful wine, impressively bringing out the rich, creamy, yellow- and white-fruit flavors of Encruzado. A great value, it's ripe, lightly herbal and ready to drink.
