Indigenous Grapes: Mavrud & Rubin

Appellation:

Located south of the Balkan Mountains, bounded by the Black Sea to the east and Greece to the south, Bulgaria's Thracian Valley is considered by many historians to be one of the oldest winemaking regions in the world.

Recently unearthed archaeological evidence suggests that wine was made 7,000 years ago by members of the cult of Dionysus, the Greek god of wine.

The lowlands have a mild climate, rolling hills and a maritime influence that provide a perfect environment to grow grapes. Today's young, post-Soviet winemakers are producing excellent wines from indigenous varieties including Mavrud & Rubin.

Tasting Notes:

Bio Mavrud & Rubin is a certified organic wine made from indigenous red grapes from Bulgaria. An intense and vivid ruby colour with complex and fresh fruit notes distinctive of the varieties. Nuances of black currant, cherry and blackberry, elegantly balanced from 6 months of oak aging.

A wonderful example of a new "old" wine discovery.
